

What our clients have said:

"Before the course we did not have a bereavement policy not realising how beneficial it could be for everyone. Now we have a policy as part of our HR commitment. Great course well delivered"
Fred Bloggs - Some Company Ltd.

"One of our pupils lost her father and was struggling at school. The training I received helped me to guide her academically as well as support her emotionally. A really worthwhile course "

SUPERVISION

Following the right direction

Our courses are designed to enable participants to increase their understanding, knowledge and confidence in providing support to bereaved individuals and families.

The courses are led by experienced professional counsellors and psychotherapists with many years experience and are held within a respectful atmosphere of mutual understanding and belief.

Building Blocks

We run a series of different courses aimed at support in different areas of grief such as Supporting The Needs of Bereaved Children or Working with Bereavement and Loss Within the Family.

Our courses give you the building blocks to ensure that you have a solid foundation to the support you offer to others.

Bereavement is not selective and strikes at any time in any environment. Having someone trained to handle this situation not only helps the bereaved person but also the surrounding environment such as a business or school

The training courses are suitable for all professionals including teachers, medical personnel, police officers, fire officers, human resources personnel and managers.

Bespoke Courses

We can create bespoke courses aimed at your needs. This may be because your organisation has special requirements or you have a number of staff and would like the training to take place on your premises. Whatever the reason, we will be happy to work with you in tailoring a program specifically aimed at your needs.

How Much Does It Cost?

All of our courses are competitively priced and extremely affordable especially when you consider the benefits. Being involved in a bereavement situation is not easy to handle without the correct training. It is not just a matter of 'knowing what to say' but more a case of spotting the indicators and reacting in the appropriate manner. This not only helps the bereaved but also their work or school environment.

Supervision

We can also provide 'Supervision' for qualified counsellors. In keeping with established national practices we can act as a supervisor for any counsellor. We work to approved standards in supporting fellow practitioners helping them to cope with the stresses that their work can cause. For more details please visit the web site and follow the link to Training and Supervision.
