

TRAINING

Training Courses for Professionals delivered by experienced counsellors & therapists

TRAINING

Our Courses...

...are designed to enable participants to increase their understanding, knowledge and confidence in providing support to and effective communication with bereaved individuals and families.

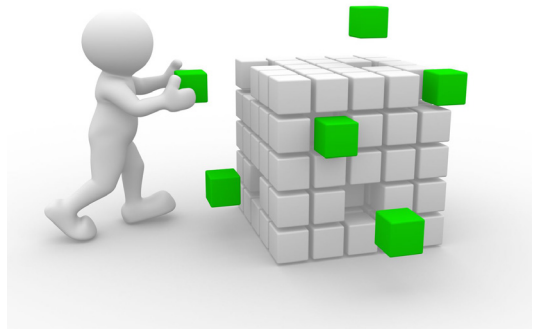

Delivered by professional counsellors and therapists the training reflects the high standard of our work in therapeutic care.

“Great trainers. Very engaging and knowledgeable and I loved their personal touch. Info’ was well relevant, well thought out and delivered.”

Building Blocks

Courses are designed to provide support in a variety of bereavement settings. They are aimed at providing you with the skills, knowledge and practical advice to build a solid foundation for the support you offer to others.

Death is not selective and can happen at any time in any environment. Having someone trained to respond appropriately helps the bereaved person and also benefits the extended educational/work environment.

This training is suitable for all professionals including teachers, medical personnel, emergency services employees, human resources personnel and managers.

“The training was very useful and informative. It provided me with valuable insight into the process of grief and consequences of loss”

To ensure your place - book now

Bespoke Training

We can create bespoke courses aimed at your needs. This may be because your organisation has specific requirements or a number of staff that would benefit from training. The courses can be held at a location of your choice. Whatever the reason, we will be happy to work with you in tailoring a program that suits you.

“Was fantastic - I feel better equipped to work with children/young people with loss bereavement issues.”

Cost or Investment?

All of our courses are competitively priced and can offer lasting benefits.

Our experience is that the correct training enables your personnel to be better prepared and confident in their ability to respond as statistics show that one in ten of the workforce will be affected by bereavement at any one time.

“Death and loss do not discriminate: Good practice in this area benefits individuals, colleagues and the organisation as a whole”

Supervision

We also provide ‘Supervision’ for qualified counsellors in keeping with professional and ethical requirements. We work to approved standards in supporting fellow practitioners in their clinical work.

How to apply.

To book your place on a course, discuss a bespoke program, enquire about supervision or for more information:

0116 2544341

training@thelauracentre.org.uk

www.thelauracentre.org.uk/ training-and-supervision

Regional Office:

The Laura Centre, 4-6 Tower Street, Leicester LE1 6WS

The Laura Centre is a nationally recognised centre of excellence in the field of bereavement counselling and therapeutic care.

From our co-founder Gail Moore

"We embrace the vision that all children, young people and their families should be able to access high quality, open ended, bereavement counselling and support to enable them to manage the impact of death on their lives.

The charity relies on voluntary donations to continue making a significant impact within the communities we serve."